Human Rights Theatre Project

During October HSA concluded the activities for the participants of the HRTP by implementing 4 theater performances in Salfeet, Asseera Al-Qebleyyah, Askar Refugee Camp, and Balata Refugee Camp. The shows targeted a total number of 300 attendees between the ages of 9 and 16 years. Each of the shows included performances of the plays that the participants wrote as well as other different activities such as poetry reading by a 5-year old girl, who is a beneficiary from another HSA project, Dabkeh performance by HSA Dabkeh band in cooperation with the local Dabkeh bands from the areas we visited, in addition to other entertaining activities. All the shows were concluded by a demonstration which was organized by HRTP participants who had prepared signs showing the 7 Human Rights focused upon during the project and were accompanied by poetry reading of Mahmoud Darwish's famous poem "We have on this earth what makes life worth living".

Artistic Workshops in Partnership with “Young Artists Forum (YAF)”

During October, the implementation of the Artistic workshops started. The participants have already finished two workshops that were held by Dr. Mohammad Saleh Khalil. The goal of these workshops is to enhance the capacities of the participants and encourage them to develop their artistic skills through receiving a professional painting training. The project is set to be concluded by organizing an exhibition that shows the work of the participants upon the ending of their training in February 2013.

Entertaining Day for the Children at the Kindergarten of the Evangelical Church

HSA's staff and volunteers organized and implemented an entertaining day for the children at the church. The day included various group activities and games that enabled all the participating children to participate in the event. Also, the children enjoyed having their faces painted by our volunteers, and some refreshments were distributed in the end.
